Odom proud of Melancon's stand on imported food

Agriculture and Forestry Commissioner Bob Odom lauded U.S. Rep. Charlie Melancon from Louisiana's Third Congressional District for taking a stand against imported seafood that doesn't meet the same safety requirements as domestic seafood.

Rep. Melancon made his comments while participating in a recent Subcommittee on Oversight and Investigations hearing examining the safety of imported food.

"I'm proud to have Rep. Melancon on our side in the battle to protect consumers from food that could be harmful," Odom said. "The make up of his district allows him exceptional insight into the domestic seafood industry and the food safety requirements for producers and processors. Rep. Melancon's knowledge and expertise make him a champion for fighting at the federal level for enforcement of the same standards on imported seafood."

Odom said Rep. Melancon cited the Louisiana Department of Agriculture and Forestry's testing program for seafood in his comments on Capitol Hill. In his statement, Rep. Melancon said, "Since the Food and Drug Administration only tests 1 percent of food imports, Louisiana's Department of Agriculture has taken it upon themselves to test for these dangerous chemicals. They have repeatedly found concentrations of chloram-phenicol and fluoroquinolones, among other chemicals, in imported seafood – particularly from producers based in China. Despite evidence of chemicals and antibiotics in imported seafood, the FDA still allows tainted food to enter the United States."

Rep. Melancon continued, "I am happy that the FDA finally made an Import Alert for farm-raised catfish, basa, dace, eel, and shrimp from China in June, but we've known about tainted and contaminated imports from China for years. Louisiana's Department of Agriculture has also found evidence of chemicals and antibiotics in crawfish tail meat from China, yet the FDA is still allowing this tainted meat to enter our food supply."

Odom said Rep. Melancon's comments also offer an opportunity to remind consumers to purchase locally grown, produced and processed foods.

"Recent food recalls have shown that even in a country with the tightest restrictions and controls on food safety that sometimes things happen. Just think of the potential for food safety problems when we allow imports to go unchecked from other countries who have little to no regard for food safety. If we don't enforce the same rules on those countries we're putting our consumers' health at risk and we just can't afford to do that," Odom said.

| Whole cloves                            | 3 tbsps. lemon juice       |
|   | 2 1/4 cups pineapple juice |

Heat oven to 350 degrees. Stud the whole oranges with cloves, spacing them about 2 inches apart and bake for 30 minutes. Remove from the oven. In a large saucepan, combine apple juice and cinnamon stick; bring to a boil. Reduce heat and simmer 5 minutes. Remove from heat and stir in nutmeg, honey, lemon juice and pineapple juice. Serve hot in a punch bowl with the baked oranges floating on top. To serve in the pumpkin, you may want to cool the punch first so it doesn't cook the inside of the pumpkin.
